- Tourist arrivals in the first quarter of 2011 increased 15 percent compared to the same period last year, with more than 300,000 visitors entering the country between Jenuary and March.
- In 2010, Kenya hosted a record 1.1 million visitors and hopes to see two million by 2012, said Tourism Minister Najib Balala.
- To tap into the flourishing market, international hotel companies, including Radisson and Crown Plaza, have invested in the construction of 17 new hotels in the country.
